

Jeanna Blitz, MD

Dr. Jeanna Blitz is an associate professor of Anesthesiology at Duke University School of Medicine, where she is the Director of the Preoperative Anesthesia Surgical Screening (PASS) Clinic, and Director of the Duke Perioperative Medicine fellowship.

Her primary academic interest is in the delivery of quality preoperative care and its impact on patients outcomes. She is the President of the Perioperative Assessment and Quality Improvement (SPAQI). Dr. Blitz serves on the American Society of Anesthesiologists National Committee on Performance and Outcomes Measurement, and the American College of Surgeons Surgical Quality Alliance, and is a board examiner for the American Board of Anesthesiology.